Secretary Lansing will attend the first meeting of the American-Mexican commission to adjust border difficulties, which will be held in New York, then for the procedure of the commissioners in the first stages of their work, and afterward they will be taken on a naval vessel to the New England seaport selected for their de-liberations. The dreadnaught Penn-sylvania probably will be assigned for the purpose.

Compensation Bill Almost a Law.

The administration's compensation bill is almost a law, the Senate amendments to the House bill having been accepted by the House late Friday with a slight amendment which probably will be easily straightened out in conference. The bill provides a in conference. The bill provides a uniform system of compensation for government employes who are injured in the line of their duty, with a ecole of pensions for dependent widows and children in care of death.

HISTORIC STRUCTURES BURNED AT OCCOQUAN

Buildings Erected in Colonial Days Wiped Out by Destructive Blaze.

Friday's fire, the worst calamity which has ever befallen Occoquan, swept from the old town many buildings which had stood for more than 200 years. Probably the oldest house in the village was the home of Wade Hamill. This dwelling was, during colonial days, used as a tavern and was owned by a man named Cleary. Stabler in the rear had accommodations for a hundred head of horses. The brick were all brought over from England, which, at that time, cost the builders and the building occupied by the Via dex Manufacturing Company were built of brick which were manufactured in the state of the content of t

The eldest of the party and her presumable daughter went into a store while the go-carter waited in front of the window. While she waited, she crocheted at a long-tailed edge of lace known to the initiated as "crowfoot."

Custodian of the go-cart tilted it.

Pretty soon the daughter girl came out with a bottle of grape juice. And while the custodian of the go-cart tilted it—bottle, understand—the other got busy with another long-tailed string of lace. After a bit, the ma woman came out with an ice cream cone in each hand—two for five kind—and feasted impartially from both. Then the baby in the cart asserted itself with a yell and was provided with a bottle of its own.
